I would maybe order the tanks now but not the bra. They have really nice ones of both at target. I got some great nursing tanks there for cheap. The bra might be a little hard to get cause you won't really know how big your boobs are gonna be til your milk comes in. I went through a few diff sizes until it had kinda adjusted itself. But if you get more of a sportsbra type nursing bra it might not make a difference if you order that now or not. I used the medela ones and they were nice.
